The FSX version of the aircraft can be installed on your PC from the Steam package. You will be prompted to insert the installation CD when you open the package. Extract the installer package file into a directory that has not been managed by the Windows operating system. The installer is a simple EXE file. Double-click the installer EXE file to start the installation process. When the installer starts, read the below instructions before you install the aircraft. For the Cessna 208 to run in FS2004, you must modify your installed FS2004 game setup. In order to view the scenery textures that are installed by default into your FS2004 game setup, you must first close your game setup. You cannot access the FDM textures for your C208 while the FS2004 game setup is open. This can be done by selecting your FS2004 installation folder and then opening it up in the Windows Explorer. When the window opens, do a search for "Assets" in the window. Then select "open" on each of the 3 *.scx files. Exit the Windows Explorer. Open up your FS2004 game setup again and now you can view the FDM textures in the Viewer. The FDM textures folder is located in the following folder FS2004\Assets\Trees. When the T206G Grand Caravan is installed correctly, the following picture will be displayed. To exit the installation for the Grand Caravan, double-click on the "C208 Caravan.exe" file. When you click on the "Next" button, a window will pop up and ask whether you want to launch the aircraft game setup. If you click on the "Next" button, the process for installing the Grand Caravan should start. Enjoy flying the C208 in FS2004 and X-Plane!
