Elements and objects Element and object options enable you to move, resize, change the appearance, and otherwise modify the components of any object on a layer. (_Note:_ In your custom menus, the word "object" is actually the term Photoshop uses for "layer" and is replaced by "layer" in the menu entries.) To make the most of these options, you need to be familiar with the various components of a layer, including these: Movable type: The Movable Type options enable you to move, resize, and change the appearance of the object you select. Object: Choose a type of object. For example, an oval or a square can be created by choosing a type from the Object Type drop-down menu. Adjustment layers: These are options for the various controls that you use to manipulate the object's appearance. You also can use Adjustment Layers to layer independent adjustments (so you can apply several at the same time), which is useful for color effects and corrections. Blend Modes: Choosing a mode allows you to create the effect of a neutral color, which is used for creating the look of a natural image. Mask (gray): A Mask option lets you create a mask to restrict the image's effect to the selected object. Choosing a gray (or desaturated) color as a Mask color allows the effect to be used only on the object you select.

UNPUBLISHED UNITED STATES COURT OF APPEALS FOR THE FOURTH CIRCUIT UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, Plaintiff-Appellee, v. No. 97-4937 JAMES EDWARD BOWSER, Defendant-Appellant. Appeal from the United States District Court for the Middle District of North Carolina, at Durham. James A. Beaty, Jr., District Judge. (CR-97-124) Submitted: October 28, 1998 Decided: November 30, 1998 Before WILKINS, NIEMEYER, and HAMILTON, Circuit Judges. _____ Affirmed by unpublished per curiam opinion. _____ COUNSEL Richard L. Cannon, III, THE CANNON LAW FIRM, Chapel Hill, North Carolina, for Appellant. Walter C. Holton, Jr., United States Attorney, Eric D. Goulian, Assistant United States Attorney, Greens- boro, North Carolina, for Appellee. _____ Unpublished opinions are not binding precedent in this circuit. See Local Rule 36(c). OPINION PER CURIAM: James Edward Bowser appeals his conviction and sentence following his conditional guilty plea to being a felon in possession of a firearm, in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 922(g) (1994). Bowser's attorney has filed a brief in accordance with Anders v. California, 386 U.S. 738 (1967), indicating there are no meritorious issues for review. Bowser has filed a pro se supplemental brief. We affirm. Bowser was indicted on one count of being a felon in possession of a firearm. He entered a conditional plea of guilty to that charge, expressly reserving the right to appeal from the district court's denial of his motion to suppress evidence. In his motion to What's New In?

If you're new to Photoshop, this is a quick tutorial on brushes, and a good place to start when you are first learning how to use Photoshop. In this tutorial, you will learn how to create simple images using Photoshop. The process is straightforward, but we will take you through each step, so you are sure to master this technique. Before we begin, we recommend you download and install Photoshop. Even though this tutorial isn't focused on using a specific program, we can only cover the topic as if it were in Photoshop (unless we talk about something very specific, like teaching you how to use Pixelmator instead). The Import Image command lets you download an image for use in your image. It's located at the top of the Photoshop window, along with the menus and other tools. The easiest way to get started is by opening your image in Photoshop (see: How to open an image in Photoshop). Let's take a look at a new image before we learn how to use Photoshop brushes. At the top, you will see the Image menu. Click on the Import Image command. This is a good way to get started with Photoshop, since a new image is downloaded to your computer. This is usually not necessary, but sometimes you want to start with a blank canvas. For this tutorial, we'll create a simple cityscape. Click on the window menu and select New. File: Cityscape.psd Click the next arrow (>) and select: Window > New. At this point, you should now be in the New Document window. There are a variety of ways to name a new document. From the upper left corner of the new document window, click on the Aa tab (on the top left corner). At this point, a titlebar with the word New is displayed, however, you may also see a dotted line across the image. Click on the dotted line. In the New Document dialog, a selection box will appear. In this selection box, you can choose several parameters for your new document. • Name: You can create a name of your choice for your new document • Dimensions: The size of your canvas is the dimensions of your new document. For example, if you want your new document to be 8 inches wide by 6 inches high, then your new document dimensions would be 8 inches by 6 inches. • Bit Depth: The file
