What's New in the MyNetwork?

The application is designed for computer/computer transfers, and also works on some portable devices (mobile phones, portable music players, etc.) What is it? MyNetwork is a small, simple and easy-to-use application designed for file-copying between two computers on a network. MyNetwork can work on computers that can't communicate with each other using the normal My Network Neighborhood. You can turn off File and Printer Sharing for Microsoft Networks, un-select Sharing on all files and folders, and disable NetBios over TCP/IP, when using it. It just uses Windows Sockets and TCP/IP. MyNetworkInstaller needs to be run on both computers. MyNetwork can receive any size file and a total of 100,000 files, and/or a total of 1,000,000 bytes of file names per folder. Basic use is to save the files to removable media and then copy them from there. Features: -Drag and drop -Drag and drop in directory tree -Drag and drop from file
