It has already been nearly three years since the last release for HAP 4.70. The new release includes a couple of completely new features and makes significant improvement in some other areas as well. The new features are: The new HAP 4.91 has been released very recently (as of this writing) and as most of you might already know, it brings new features as well as improvement in various areas of HAP 4.70. The following is a list of the new features and improvements in HAP 4.91: 1. New HAP GUI There is no HAP 4.70 since 2009. No matter what you say about that point of view but the HAP GUI is the most utilized and most used tool among the HAP users. The HAP GUI 4.90 was released in September 2013. The new version HAP 4.91 is the third version of the HAP GUI and they are trying to cover all the available needs of all the users. So as the result of that, there are some new features and improvements in HAP GUI 4.91. If you are using HAP GUI 4.90 or HAP GUI 4.91, you can see the new features in the screenshot below: This new HAP GUI is almost one of the most important components of this new HAP release. As you can see that there are many improvements in HAP GUI 4.91, to be more specific in this HAP release: 1. There are a lot of fixes and improvements in the HAP GUI. All of the issues which was reported by the user has been fixed or improved. 2. The starting and end buttons are now in the proper places. 3. There is a new function in HAP GUI, which is the filter window. In that window, you can enter the direction (N,S,E,W) where you want to filter the data. 4. There are a few better icons for the help window, such as bringing the help window to the foreground. 5. There is a new function in the HAP GUI, which is the option to open the help window automatically when any error occurs. 6. There is a new function

Where am I? I logged onto my computer to check my e-mail and immediately I spotted a bill from my doctor reminding me that I still haven't renewed my prescriptions. How many hours at work have I spent pouring over insurance receipts trying to sort out billing? I guess I'm not exactly in the right frame of mind to truly look forward to spring because I'm still fighting. It's February, my dog is not allowed on the stairs because she has arthritis, and I'm cooking chicken soup because my body hurts. I know, it's odd. Here is an animal lover who takes medicine daily and works out like a maniac. Yet I'm dreading the first big walk I have to take in 13 days when our car will be down for a tune-up. Oh, and no cleaning. How does a cleaning professional begin to cry when she knows that the vacuum will be used? I am in the wrong place. The first week of March should be a week of sunshine, walks on groomed trails and an easing of any congestion I have with my dog. Instead, I'm in a fog of exhaustion. I woke up late today after a rousing night of restful sleep and suddenly I felt a little lost. I can't remember the last time I felt this way. I should be in a better place. After all, I've been a stress-free-mom for 30 years. I'm 55 and I've taught my children how to deal with life, so why am I acting like a teenager? I had a chance to take a break last weekend from my anxieties and I spent three weeks in Puerto Vallarta. I was traveling with one of my best girlfriends who has a thriving practice and some of the best friends I know. We went to a cafe where the wait staff dressed in black with matching headbands and ties. I ordered a coffee and
