Did we miss any? A: Doesn't it contain spaces? The output is being generated for all the properties regardless of whether or not they have spaces in them. A: Looking for the editText tag What I did was, add the same regex for the editText string as for the name. if (node.isTag()) { String inputValue = node.getText(); String name = node.getName(); if (inputValue == null) { Log.i(TAG, "removeFromXml: null"); node.removeFromXml(); node.addToBucket(""); nodeList.remove(node); offset--; continue; } String cleanInputValue = inputValue.replaceAll(" ", ""); String cleanName = name.replaceAll(" ", ""); if (cleanInputValue != null) { Element keyElement = (Element) nodeList.get(offset); Element valueElement = (Element) nodeList.get(offset); if ((cleanInputValue.contains(" ")) && (keyElement instanceof EditText)) { valueElement.setText(""); } e79caf774b was listening to that song for quite a while, and I was quite happy with it, so I should go see what else you did. Maybe it will help a bit. yeah, that would be perfect. So I started another version, the #2. Sorry I had a bit of a breakdown yesterday as well. When I'm going through a particularly bad patch (no, not one, it was multiple days), I feel all over the place mentally and I know that I'm not focusing on what I'm doing. Anyway, what do you mean by breaking down mentally? It's probably just the time of the year. As for the other question, yes I really like the way your picture and the skin tone blend together. Oh right, I need to talk to Shigezo about that. I thought he asked you to use the tonebook default from before the dark tones. Yeah, I was listening to that song for quite a while, and I was quite happy with it, so I should go see what else you did. Maybe it will help a bit. yeah, that would
