Roblox is a video game creation platform where users can create games and play with others right on Roblox.com and in the Roblox mobile apps. In the most popular version, users can create games and stories using visual authoring tools and other game features which include physics, animation, user interfaces, 3D graphics, gaming controllers, a map editor, player interaction, and player progression. Players can set their characters' and object's position and rotation in space, define their characters' interactions with each other, and script events that define narrative game flow. Players can create settings from a selection of visual models and decorate game areas with items from inventory sets. Players can also download and purchase new items and scenery from Roblox Marketplace, a shop operated by Roblox, and engage in auctions and trade with other players. They can sell items they've created and earned in game for real-world currency called Robux (R$). These actions can be viewed in the game's in-game chat, which is accessible to all users. Most of the original code for Roblox is open source, and Roblox is designed to be as accessible as possible, with a variety of web browsers supporting Roblox Studio-designed user interfaces. Developers can integrate their games using a drag and drop set of game programming tools or using drag and drop programming blocks. Users can host and embed games on their own sites, or share them on Roblox.com. Players can find their games via search, or browse Roblox's Catalog of Games, which lists the games users have made on the site. Games published on Roblox can earn players Robux for their efforts, allowing them to spend this virtual currency on game items. Players can also purchase Robux using their real-world money. Roblox is free to download and play, but requires a Robux balance to purchase additional game features. Players can use the game's in-game browser to connect with other players and communicate with them. Players can create chat rooms and communities to organize with other players. Gamers can chat, play games, trade items, and meet others on the platform. Additionally, players can create groups, where they can share screenshots of their games, invite friends, and create events. Roblox has over 164 million monthly active users, including more than half of all American children under 16. While most of these players are young teenagers, several demographic groups participate in Roblox, including

Is there a server that offers free robux to Roblox players? Thanks for answers! A: There are several ways to get Free Robux on Roblox. Though all of them are not 100% Sure as I am not the author of any plugin/server, but most of them are working and they are trusted by many and worked for a very long time.

Giveaways If your friend/acquaintance got Robux, you can claim the Robux by logging in to his/her account. This is the most common way to get Free Robux. In other words, if you have any friend whose account has lot of money and no kid, play and collect Robux for you.

Airtime/power This is one of the best way to get Robux, but many don't like it. It is because of the 10% compensation fee. If your friend has tons of airtime and any web connected device can access the internet, you can sign up and sign in to his account with your account and then you can claim all his/her Robux.

Utilize Plugins Robux Pirate, Robux Collector is one of the oldest and well trusted Robux plugin available. Though they charge money for this plugin, if your friend has a lot of Robux which he won't use for his other games/activities, this is the perfect way to get a free Robux. Also, Airdrop Robux, Air Robux, Robux Thief, Starfish Robux are few other plugins which can give you the same effect.

Minecraft Servers Though many Minecraft players are known to hate the robux from the game, if your friend uses different server in Minecraft, you can run a server and claim all the Robux he earned from selling Robux to others. Gift Robux The creator of Robux Collector, Tajdax is gifting Robux to the active Robloxers. Though they don't have any limits, but it's better if you run this on a server you own. Pliers This is another perfect way to claim free Robux, you just need to play a lot and claim Free Robux manually. Arena/Solo Showdown Another way to get Robux is that you can play in Arena or Solo Showdown. The catch is that you need to have minimum level to enter Arena
