Is there a way to tell what the Download Manager is trying to do? Obviously it is suffering due to the size of the files. However, I am unable to find any option to download the torrents, pause them or anything like that. UPDATE II: The larger file (4.2GB >> 2.1GB), which was originally un-installable, is now installed. The size of the download went from 871.7 MB to 828.5 MB. I loaded the.vsldownload file as a new library. The files were still un-installable. The Vienna Symphonic Library Orchestra which comes with in original KONTAKT 5 is more dry and feels more 'close'. This 'Vienna symphonic Library' from vsl.co.at on the other hand sounds more spacious, the samples sound more far away.at least it is what I can tell from demos. With the Vienna Symphonic Library Orchestra you can create your own performance. Create the performance you want, invite other people into your Vienna Symphonic Library, and invite them to play back, and you create your own unique Vienna Symphonic Library Concert. The first thing I noticed is that the Download Manager has a section for "Active Libraries" as well as a section for "Locked Libraries". I don't remember that I clicked on either of these sections (and the UAC popup is super annoying). I clicked the green lock icon in the lower right corner and was able to delete the Downloads as well as the Library Entry on my Vienna Key and the files were deleted from the hard drive but downloaded again to the Download Manager. I opened up the Library Entry from the Download Manager and checked "Always check for updates". This seems to be a good way to ensure that the library is up to date (and if the library has an update it can be downloaded and installed onto the disk). I clicked ok and that seemed to do the trick.

I checked out the vst demo which I downloaded from the download page and it works fine. Then I tried to load the Vienna Symphony Orchestra VST library which was the reason for the purchase. It did not work at all. I tried playing it, it said that there are no active plugins and I was able to get it to work if I closed the window and re-opened it. This seemed like a hack and I could not use both at the same time. I even tried to close my Vienna Key and unregistered it and then registered it back, but the same behavior occurred. I tried to enter the Library Entry from the Download Manager to see if it was downloading only the library itself but it is not. I am only getting the greyed out grey box. I had the same issue. I created a new Vienna Ensemble Pro Library and worked well. I have noticed this issue with the Vienna Symphonic Library before where I have to create a new library for the Vienna Symphonic Library instruments to work properly. However, the VSL instruments require a separate library that has to be created in "ORANGE" mode and the Vienna Symphonic Library requires a library created in "RED" mode. The "ORANGE" VSL instruments are not available when you are only downloading the Vienna Symphonic Library. I'm not sure if it is a common problem or a problem with the libraries of Vienna specifically. I've read a few forums stating that it's possible to use the Download Manager to download the Vienna libraries but they never mention an actual speed. Most recommend just using the built-in browser for the library files. Any help would be greatly appreciated. 5ec8ef588b
