the main reason why hackers are interested in hacking into our accounts is because of the money they can make. for instance, hackers can change your profile picture on your facebook page and send it to your friend, or they can remove your profile on your facebook page. they can even change your credit card number to someone else's number, which would result in the card being used and the money being stolen. if you are a victim of gmail hack, you will be getting a series of messages such as changing your password or trying to hack your account. you will be asked to enter a new password. try to enter a different password and they will be locked. do not give up! the hacking of your account can be done in two ways. if you have added your email address to your social network accounts, then your information will be hacked because your social media accounts are linked to your email address. however, if you have not added your email address to your social media accounts, then there is another way of hacking your account. the hacker will hack into your account by sending you a series of messages or emails that will trick you into believing that your account is being hacked. all these hacking methods are not 100% safe and may not be able to hack into your account. however, they are still pretty effective, as the amount of time spent on hacking an account is pretty small. many people have been able to hack into their accounts successfully using these methods. for instance, google once offered a security competition called google security challenge to find the best hacker. the competition was won by a young girl. 5ec8ef588b
